YAMAGIWA-YOSHIDA MEMORIAL INTERNATIONAL CANCER STUDY GRANTS Union for International Cancer Control

Description:

The Union for International Cancer Control invites applications for the Yamagiwa-Yoshida memorial international cancer study grants. These enable cancer investigators from any country to carry out bilateral research projects abroad that exploit complementary materials or skills, including training in advanced experimental research methods and techniques. Basic, translational or applied cancer research is eligible, and prevention-oriented projects are especially encouraged. Candidates should be actively engaged in cancer research with appropriate scientific or medical qualifications and recent publications in international peer-reviewed literature. Applicants must possess at least two years' postdoctoral experience. Grants are worth US$10,000 each on average over a maximum of three months.

R RESEARCH SEED GRANT Radiological Society of North America

Description:

The Radiological Society of North America Research and Education Foundation invites applications under its research seed grant program. This enables investigators to define objectives and test hypotheses in preparation of major grant applications in any area of radiologic sciences. Projects with a focus on advancing imaging science, developing or evaluating medical imaging technology, or making innovative use of imaging science to answer important biologic or clinical questions are encouraged. Each applicant must:

- be a radiological investigator of any level and of any nationality;
- be an RSNA member;
- hold a full-time faculty position in a department of radiology, radiation oncology, or nuclear medicine within an educational institution;
- have completed advanced training and be certified by the radiology board of their country;
- not be an agent for any for-profit, commercial company in the radiologic sciences.

Up to US$40,000 is available for a period of one year. Funding is available to support the preliminary or pilot phase of the project with no salary support is available for the principal investigator.

MEWALDT-KING STUDENT RESEARCH AWARD Cooper Ornithological Society

Description:

The Cooper Ornithological Society invites applications for the Mewaldt-King student research awards. These $1,000 awards are designated to support research that relates to the conservation of birds. Research may be in any area of ornithology, but studies that involve demographics, breeding biology or disease ecology may be particularly relevant, especially if the species is endangered, threatened or otherwise of management concern. Studies of species from threatened ecosystems or with reference to large-scale conservation issues such as climate or landscape change are also of particular interest.

Only graduate students accepted to or enrolled in a master's or doctoral program are eligible for the award.

Closing date: 15 Jan 13 (Forecast)

Deadline information: !! Call has not yet been announced by sponsor but this is the approximate deadline we expect. This call is repeated once a year.

A RACHNOLOGY RESEARCH FUND
American Arachnological Society

Description:

The American Arachnological Society invites applications for its fund for arachnological research. The purpose of the fund is to provide research support for work relating to any aspect of the behavior, ecology, physiology, evolution or systematics of any of the arachnid groups (excluding Acari). Awards may be used for field work, museum research (including travel), expendable supplies, identification of specimens, or for preparation of figures and drawings for publication.

Individual awards will normally range between $250 and $350. These awards are open to all students and faculty who receive less than $500 per year of research funding from their home institutions. However, preference will be given to graduate students.

Research grants are awarded only to student and regular members of the AAS and to students of current regular members of the society. The competition is open to both US and non-US citizens and to biologists at US and non-US institutions.

INDIVIDUAL POSTDOCTORAL FELLOWSHIP

Hans Rausing Endangered Languages Project

Description:

The Hans Rausing Endangered Languages Project invites applications for its individual postdoctoral fellowships. Fellowships provide support costs for individuals for up to two years. A typical award may include:

- postdoctoral salary costs;
- technical staff costs;
- consultants;
- equipment;
- travel and subsistence.

Applications are welcomed from researchers of any nationality to undertake projects in any part of the world. It is expected that postdoctoral fellowship applicants will be academically junior or early-career researchers with qualifications in linguistics and experience in linguistic fieldwork. Applicants may propose projects to be undertaken by teams or individuals and should have been awarded their PhD no more than five years prior to the proposed start date of the fellowship. The average award is worth £95,000.

MAJOR DOCUMENTATION PROJECT Hans Rausing Endangered Languages Project

Description:

The Hans Rausing Endangered Languages Project invites applications for funding for a major documentation project. Major documentation projects are any projects over £10,000 that are not targeted to a specific career stage and may involve a number of elements, including fieldwork, salary costs of researchers and stipend costs of graduate students whose work will contribute to the project as a whole. Researchers of any nationality may apply for funding to undertake projects in any part of the world. Applicants should have qualifications in linguistics and experience in linguistic fieldwork, including suitably qualified graduate students. Projects may be undertaken by teams or individuals. Applicants for multi-person projects must have a proven track record in language documentation and linguistic analysis and have demonstrated the skills to manage such a project. Support may be requested for between six and 36 months. There is a cap of £150,000, although the panel welcomes modest requests.

A RCHBISHOP TUTU LEADERSHIP PROGRAMME African Leadership Institute

Description:

The African Leadership Institute invites applications for the Archbishop Tutu fellowship. Grants aim is to introduce young achievers who are likely to become leaders to key principles, requirements and challenges of leadership and to provide a platform for them across the African continent. This five month part-time programme is run in partnership with Oxford University and African institutions. The programme combines theory and case studies with experiential learning, mentoring and tutoring, practical application and experience, and peer interaction and review. The focus is African leadership in a global context. The programme involves two nine-day workshops. The first workshop will be held in South Africa held from 24 April to 1 May 2010, while the second workshop will be held at Oxford University and in London at the beginning of September. The candidate's costs of travel, accommodation and tuition at the workshops will be covered.

Candidates must be aged between 25 and 39 and be currently living in Africa, temporarily placed abroad by their employer or completing further education abroad. They should be committed to living in Africa and to actively contributing to its long term success. Only nominated candidates will be considered for admission.

SUPPORT FOR ONGOING CLINICAL RESEARCH PROJECTS IN THALASSAEMIA

Cooley's Anemia Foundation

Description:

Cooley's Anemia Foundation invites applications for support for ongoing clinical research projects in thalassaemia. The goal of this initiative is to support investigators from all disciplines and backgrounds with their ongoing clinical projects to address one or more of the following areas impacting patients with thalassaemia: cardiac issues and iron overload; fertility, pregnancy and family planning; quality of life, psychosocial impact and burden of disease. This level of funding would be appropriate for support of innovative small-scale pilot studies, observational trials, or ancillary support for ongoing interventional studies. In the case of ancillary studies, investigators should clearly document the support for the parent trial in their other support declarations.

National and international junior and senior faculty are eligible, whereas fellows and trainees are not eligible. Investigators must interact directly with patients or patient-related data. Applicants may come from any background, including MD, RN, PhD, MPH, MSW or other disciplines. The research may not be conducted at a for-profit laboratory

The stipend will be US$40,000 annually with the possibility of renewal for a second year. Funds may be used for either salary or other purposes, but the administrative cost is limited to 10 per cent of the grant amount.

AGRICULTURE FOR DEVELOPMENT PROJECT

Directorate-General for Development and Cooperation (EuropeAid)

Description:

The Directorate General for Development and Cooperation (EuropeAid) invites applications on behalf of the National Authorising Officer Sierra Leone for its agriculture for development project. The overall purpose of this project is to contribute to the reduction of poverty in Sierra Leone through increased agricultural productivity and quality of produce. Proposals should address efficient and effective value chains for targeted development of the following crops, with specific focus on increased production, marketing and trading:

- lot one - cocoa, with funding between €2.1 million and €6.34m;
- lot two - coffee, with funding between €500,000 and €1.4m;

lot three - cashew, with funding between €300,000 and €800,000.

Applicants must be non-profit, non-governmental organisations established in a member state of the EU or an African, Caribbean or Pacific country. Applicants must apply in partnership and those based outside Sierra Leone must apply with at least one local Sierra Leone partner.

RESIDENCIES Brocher Foundation

Description:

The Brocher Foundation invites applications for residencies at its centre in Geneva. These enable researchers to stay at the centre for one to six months to start or complete a research project on ethical, legal and social implications of recent medical research and new medical technologies. Eligible disciplines include: bioethics, health anthropology, health economics, health governance, health law, health philosophy, health psychology, health sociology, medical ethics, history of medicine. A special emphasis is placed on projects addressing neuroscience and synthetic biology. Preference is given to collaborations with Swiss universities, European universities and non-governmental or international organisations, and researchers can collaborate with one or two other researchers on a project. Applications from low- or middle-income countries are highly encouraged. All successful applicants receive accommodation, an office, food and travel costs to Geneva. Junior visiting researchers, each of whom should be a PhD student, or have obtained their PhD in 2008 or later, may also apply for travel and local expenses in Geneva. Successful applicants receive accommodation, an office, food and travel costs to Geneva.

OCCUPATIONAL SAFETY AND HEALTH RESEARCH (R01) Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC)

Description:

The National Institute for Occupational Safety and Health invites grant applications for research related to occupational safety and health. The purpose of this R01 funding opportunity announcement is to develop an understanding of the risks and conditions that are associated with occupational diseases and injuries, to explore methods for reducing risks and for preventing or minimizing exposure to hazardous conditions in the workplace, and to translate significant scientific findings into prevention practices and products that will effectively reduce work-related illnesses and injuries.

This FOA will utilize the R01 grant mechanism. Applicants may request a budget for direct costs of up to $400,000 per year for up to four years. Domestic and foreign for-profit and non-profit organizations and public or private institutions are eligible to apply. PAR-10-188 (replaces PA-07-318)

INDO-PACIFIC CETACEAN RESEARCH AND CONSERVATION FUND

Australian Department of Sustainability, Environment, Water, Population and Communities

Description:

The Department of Sustainability, Environment, Water, Population and Communities, through its Marine Mammal Centre, invites applications for its Indo-Pacific cetacean research and conservation fund. These grants are for research projects that address research and conservation challenges of interest to the Australian Government, developing countries in the Indo-Pacific Region and the cetacean research and conservation community more generally. Priority is given to the following areas:

- investigating potential impacts from human activities that capture or kill cetaceans, including bycatch and ship strikes. A focus of such work should be mitigation management;
- investigating the impacts of whale watching with a focus on ecologically sustainable development and improving best practice;
- supporting the development of management plans and strategies with focused and demonstrable outcomes;
- monitoring programmes for depleted cetacean populations, particularly those with links to potential conservation management actions and policy development.

Funding is usually in the range of $10,000 to $30,000. This award is in Australian research income Category 2.

European Commission Framework Programme 7: Cooperation

Description:

The European Commission Framework Programme 7: Cooperation invites proposals for the FP7-KBBE-2013-7-single-stage call. Proposals may address:

- activity 2.1 sustainable production and management of biological resources from land, forest and aquatic environments, including KBBE.2013.1.1-01 development and exploitation of genomic data and tools, phenotyping approaches and breeding concepts to sustainable animal production systems, KBBE.2013.1.2-01 agro-silvo pastoral systems for Europe, KBBE.2013.1.2-02 legume breeding and management for sustainable agriculture, as well as protein supply for food and feed, KBBE.2013.1.2-03 integrated approach towards small grain cereal production and diversification in Europe, KBBE.2013.1.2-04 control of pests and pathogens affecting fruit crops, KBBE.2013.1.2-05 biological control agents in agriculture and forestry for effective pest and pathogen control, KBBE.2013.1.2-06 improved coordination and collaboration for EU plant health reference collections, KBBE.2013.1.2-07 novel practices and policies for sustainable wood mobilisation in European forests, KBBE.2013.1.2-08 innovative insights and tools to integrate the ecosystem-based approach into fisheries advice, KBBE.2013.1.2-09 diversification of fish species and products in European aquaculture, KBBE.2013.1.2-10 boosting the domestication of established farmed finfish species through selective breeding, KBBE.2013.1.2-11 assessment of organic aquaculture for further development of European regulatory framework, KBBE.2013.1.3-01 emerging viral vector borne diseases, KBBE.2013.1.3-02 sustainable apiculture and conservation of honey bee genetic diversity, KBBE.2013.1.3-03 sustainable animal production - an integrated and multi-factorial approach, KBBE.2013.1.3-04 coordination of research between EU and China on major infectious diseases of animals and zoonoses, KBBE.2013.1.3-05 ecology of drug-resistant bacteria and transfer of antimicrobial resistance through the food chain, KBBE.2013.1.4-07 boosting the translation of FP projects' results into innovative applications in the field of agriculture, forestry, fisheries and aquaculture, KBBE.2013.1.4-08 boosting the outreach of research with focus on agricultural and forestry knowledge and innovation systems, KBBE.2013.1.4-09 improving the capacity of agro-meteorological crop modelling to integrate climate variability and extreme weather events, KBBE.2013.1.4-10 agriculture and trade development in EU eastern neighbour countries, KBBE.2013.1.4-11 measurement of research impact in European agriculture and KBBE.2013.1.4-12 support to agricultural policy - establishing and testing farm-level indicators;

- activity 2.2 fork to farm - food (including seafood), health and well-being, including KBBE.2013.2.1-01 impact of food and nutritional behaviour, lifestyle and the socio-economic environment on depression and proposed remedial actions, KBBE.2013.2.2-01 new technologies to study brain function in relation to eating behaviour, KBBE.2013.2.2-02 factors influencing the human gut microbiome and its effect on the development of diet-related diseases and brain development, KBBE.2013.2.2-03 food-based solutions for eradication of vitamin D deficiency and health promotion throughout the life cycle, KBBE.2013.2.3-01 development and industrial applications of sensors for food processing operations, KBBE.2013.2.3-02 network for the transfer of knowledge on traditional foods to small and medium-sized enterprises, KBBE.2013.2.4-01 assuring quality and authenticity in the food chain, KBBE.2013.2.5-01 assessment of the impact of global drivers of change on Europe's food security, KBBE.2013.2.5-02 saving water and energy for resource-efficient food processing, KBBE.2013.2.6-01 exploitation of results of framework programme projects in food, health and well-being by SMEs;

- activity 2.3 life sciences, biotechnology and biochemistry for sustainable non-food products and processes, including KBBE.2013.3.1-01 plant high value products - from discovery to final product, KBBE.2013.3.1-02 EU-Latin America partnering initiative on sustainable biodiversity in agriculture, KBBE.2013.3.2-02 the CO<sub>2</sub> algae biorefinery, KBBE.2013.3.3-01 support for demonstrating the potential of biotechnological applications, KBBE.2013.3.3-02 bioeconomy and bioregions, KBBE.2013.3.3-03 opening markets for bio-based products - standardisation, labelling and procurement, KBBE.2013.3.3-04 optimal and cost-effective industrial biocatalysts, KBBE.2013.3.4-01 preventing and valorising bio-waste in biorefineries, KBBE.2013.3.5-01 new, fast and reliable molecular detection methodologies, KBBE.2013.3.5-02 GMO ERA-NET preparatory action, KBBE.2013.3.6-01 novel bioinspired materials and processes and KBBE.2013.3.6-02 synthetic biology towards applications.

Each proposer must be based in an EU member or FP7-associated state. Any legal entity, regardless of the country in which it is established, may participate in a Cooperation call. For collaborative projects and coordinating actions, a minimum of three independent legal entities, each of which is established in different member or associate state, are required. For supporting actions, at least one legal entity is required. Participants in collaborative projects (large-scale integrating projects) and collaborative projects (large scale projects targeted to small and medium sized companies) are required to conclude a consortium agreement. For other projects consortia agreements are not obligatory but recommended. The indicative budget of this call is worth €341.35 million. OJ 2012/C 202/6.

R ESearch GRANTS National Multiple Sclerosis Society

Description:

The National Multiple Sclerosis Society invites applications for its research grants. These support non-clinical and clinical fundamental and applied studies related to multiple sclerosis, including projects in patient management, care and rehabilitation. Funding may be requested for the following purposes:

- salaries for professional and non-professional personnel of up to US$199,700 per year for principal investigators, and between US$39,264 and US$54,180 for research associates;
- fringe benefits, including social security, retirement and group insurance plans;
- premiums on hazard and other insurance;
- patient costs;
- permanent equipment;
- consumable supplies, including laboratory supplies and the purchase and maintenance of experimental animals;

- domestic and foreign research-related travel;
- subcontracts with another institution.

Institutions in the United States may also request indirect costs of up to 10 per cent of the requested sum. Institutions, except in unusual circumstances, are the official recipients of grants made for the support of specific research by the principal investigator. The principal investigator need not be a US citizen. The sponsoring institution may be in any country, however foreign applicants are requested to exhaust all local funding resources before coming to the NMSS of the US. Studies may last for one to five years.

P<sup>FIZER AWARD</sup> Royal Society

Description:

The Royal Society invites nominations for the Pfizer award. This award will be presented to an individual for an outstanding, innovative contribution to biological science, including basic medical science, which contributes significantly to capacity building in Africa. The grant is intended to be spent on a research project, which must be based in Africa and which has the potential to continue after the 12 months of the grant. Nominees should be early-career researchers (usually having received their PhD within the last 10 to 15 years) who have not yet reached full professorship status. The project and nominee should be linked with an African centre of excellence, which would normally be a university, or equivalent research centre.

Nominations may be made by senior academics and members of the national academies of science. The award includes a grant of £60,000 for a research project and a prize of £5,000 for the recipient.

R ROYAL SOCIETY/LEVERHULME AFRICA AWARDS PHASE II Royal Society

Description:

The Royal Society, in partnership with the Leverhulme Trust, invites applications for phase II of its Africa awards. The scheme aims to develop collaborative research projects between the UK and research institutions in either Ghana or Tanzania, and strengthen the research and training capacity of the African institution.

Applications are welcome in all areas of the life and physical sciences, including engineering, but are particularly encouraged from the following five national research priority areas in Ghana and Tanzania:

- agriculture, including animal health;
- water and sanitation;
- basic human health research, including medicinal chemistry;
- biodiversity, including medicinal plants and green chemistry;
- energy, including biofuels.

Proposals should include a PhD student, who must be based at the host institution in either country. Both the UK and Ghanaian or Tanzanian project leaders must be of at least postdoctoral status or equivalent and have a proven track record of training students at master's and doctoral level. The UK scientist must be resident in the UK and the Ghanaian or Tanzanian scientist resident in Ghana or Tanzania. UK scientists must hold a permanent or fixed-term contract for the duration of the award.

Both project leaders and their teams must be supported by a higher education institution in Ghana, Tanzania or the UK. Applications can also be accepted from not-for-profit NGOs and governmental research institutes in Ghana or Tanzania. Scientists in UK governmental research institutes may apply, but must explain why their institute is not funding the project.

Existing award holders whose project ends are eligible to apply for a continuation.

Funding is provided for three years and is worth up to £60,000 each year, covering research expenses, costs for mobility and equipment, and £10,000 for the PhD student bursary.

I INTERNATIONAL PARTNERSHIP AND MOBILITY AWARDS

British Academy

Description:

The British Academy invites applications for its international partnership and mobility awards. The aim of this scheme is to support the development of partnerships between the UK and other areas of the world where research excellence would be strengthened by new, innovative initiatives and links. The scheme intends to strengthen research capacity and capability, with all partners gaining from the collaboration, and to initiate the development of long-term, vigorous links between the UK and overseas scholars while also encouraging an intra-regional exchange of expertise and knowledge sharing. Awards cover any branch of the humanities or social sciences and are intended to focus on collaborative research on a specific theme of mutual interest. In this round the scheme is open to one-year and three-year partnerships between UK scholars and scholars in Africa,

Latin America and the Caribbean, the Middle East, South Asia, and East and South-East Asia. One-year awards may be viewed as pump-priming grants while three-year awards will develop research further and involve a more extensive programme of collaboration and exchange. Workshops and seminars should form an integral part of the programme. Partnerships including a training element and involving early-career scholars will be looked on favourably. Both a principal and co-applicant are required for this scheme. The principal applicant must be ordinarily resident in the UK, the Isle of Man or the Channel Islands and be able to demonstrate that they will be based at their present employing research-active institution for the duration of the award. The co-applicant must be based at a research-active institution in Africa, Latin America and the Caribbean, the Middle East, South Asia, and

East and South-East Asia for the duration of the award. All applicants must be of postdoctoral or equivalent status. Awards are worth up to £10,000 per year for a period of one or three years.

Closing date: 06 Feb 13

Deadline information: This call is repeated once a year.

Posted date: 02 Nov 12

Award type: Networking/collaboration, Directed grants for individual investigators, Travel for research purposes

Award amount max: £30,000

STARS IN GLOBAL HEALTH

Grand Challenges Canada

Description:

Grand Challenges Canada invites proposals for its Stars in Global Health programme. Funding will support bold ideas with big impact, including those from agriculture and water and sanitation sectors, that could be easily implemented in developing countries to improve global health. Innovations should have a strong likelihood of achieving substantial and measurable health gains in an under-resourced setting, and maximise delivery, uptake, acceptability, sustainability and impact by integrating scientific, technical, social and business innovation. Desirable attributes include:

- effective approaches for improving health in communities with no or only basic healthcare infrastructure or personnel;
- solutions appropriate for settings with limited infrastructure;
- approaches that minimise maintenance and training;
- solutions that can be easily assimilated into cultural practices and existing health delivery mechanisms;
- extreme affordability;
- approaches that reflect an understanding of the target user market and address the needs of the user;
- solutions including a solid business plan to drive market penetration and uptake in poor countries.

Innovators from Canada and low and lower-middle income countries may apply. Canadian applicants should hold a PhD or health professional degree and be affiliated with a Canadian primary institution. Applicants from low and lower-middle income countries should be within 10 years of obtaining a master's, PhD or health professional degree and be affiliated with a primary institution within their country. Canadian applicants must have a collaborator based in a low or lower-middle income country; applicants from low and lower-middle income countries need not collaborate but must have a mentor, who may be from any country. The total budget for this programme is CA$74 million. In this round, 50 to 75 grants worth CA$100,000 will be awarded. Grants will be tenable for 12 to 18 months to demonstrate proof of concept of the idea, after which grantees may be invited to apply for transition to scale grants.

Closing date: 06 Feb 13

CLINICAL STUDIES OF SAFETY AND EFFECTIVENESS OF ORPHAN PRODUCTS RESEARCH PROJECT GRANT (R01) Food and Drug Administration (FDA)

Description:

The US Food and Drug Administration's office of orphan products development invites applications for its clinical studies of safety and effectiveness of orphan products research project grant (R01) programme. The goal of the OPD grant programme is to support the clinical development of products for use in rare diseases or conditions where no current therapy exists or where the product being developed will be superior to the existing therapy. FDA provides grants for clinical studies on safety and effectiveness that will result in or contribute to market approval of these products. There are three phases of study:

- phase 1 studies include the initial introduction of an investigational new drug into humans, are usually conducted in healthy volunteer subjects and are designed to determine the metabolic and pharmacological actions of the product, as well as the side effects, including those associated with increasing drug doses;

- phase 2 studies include early controlled clinical studies conducted to evaluate the effectiveness of the product for a particular indication in patients with the disease or condition and to determine the common short-term side effects and risks associated with it;
- phase 3 studies gather more information about effectiveness and safety that is necessary to evaluate the overall risk-benefit ratio of the product and to provide an acceptable basis for product labelling.

OPD intends to commit US$14.1 million in fiscal years 2014 and 2015. Approximately US$4.1m will fund five to 10 new awards, subject to availability of funds. Project funding is worth up to US$400,000 per year over four years.

Closing date: 06 Feb 13

OCEAN OF TOMORROW FP7-OCEAN-2013

European Commission Framework Programme 7: Cooperation

Description:

The European Commission Framework Programme 7: Cooperation invites proposals for the ocean of tomorrow FP7-OCEAN-2013

call. Proposals may address the following topics, under the theme of the ocean of tomorrow - joining research forces to meet challenges in ocean management:

- OCEAN 2013.1 biosensors for real time monitoring of biohazard and man-made chemical contaminants in the marine environment, for which funding is worth up to €6 million;
- OCEAN 2013.2 innovative multifunctional sensors for in-situ monitoring of marine environment and related maritime activities, for which funding is worth up to €6m;
- OCEAN 2013.3 innovative anti-fouling materials for maritime applications, for which funding is worth up to €8m;
- OCEAN 2013.4 innovative transport and deployment systems for the offshore wind energy sector, for which funding is worth up to €10m.

At least three independent legal entities, each of which is established in a member state or associated country but no two of which are established in the same MS or AC, must be included in each proposal. Any legal entity, regardless of the country in which it is established, may participate in a Cooperation call. The indicative budget for this call is €55m.

Description:

The People's Trust for Endangered Species invites applications for its worldwide small grants. Funding is available for short-term conservation and research projects that focus on one or more endangered species, classified by the International Union for Conservation of Nature, or their habitat. It is hoped that these grants will enable innovative work and discrete projects to be carried out. Applications are welcomed from scientific researchers and workers in the field of conservation. Applicants should already be working and established in either the UK, UK overseas territories or any country not classified by the World Bank as high-income. For applications for work outside the UK, preference will be given to those from, or projects carried out in, regions or countries that have fewer avenues of funding open to them. Applications from developed countries outside the UK are highly unlikely to be funded. Grants are awarded for projects of up to two years' duration and are worth between £2,000 and £8,000, although most grants will not exceed £5,000.

NEW CIVICS SMALL STRATEGIC GRANTS

Spencer Foundation

Description:

The Spencer Foundation invites proposals for its new civics small strategic grants. These aim to support research that deepens the understanding of educational and other influences of civic action that attends to social inequalities in civic education and civic action and that has the potential to shape future research and practice in these fields. The foundation has a particular interest in studies that attend to the following:

- outcomes aligned with institutional or systematic change;
- populations of interest, including non-college-bound youth, less economically privileged youth, members of diverse racial and ethnic groups, and immigrant youth;
- attention to developmental patterns with an age range from childhood through age 30.

To be eligible, primary investigators must either have an earned doctorate in an academic discipline or professional field related to education, or possess appropriate experience in an education research-related profession. Affiliation with a college, university, research facility, school district, or cultural institution willing to serve as the fiscal agent is also required. Proposals from individuals are not eligible. All nationalities may apply given that the proposal is written in English.

Funding of up to US$40,000 is available.

PROGRAMME FUND
Fondation Ensemble

Description:

The Fondation Ensemble invites applications to its programme fund. Funding is available to support projects in the areas of water and sanitation and sustainable development in developing countries. Projects should make a concrete and lasting improvement to the lives of the target population. Projects should contribute to protecting the environment and rationalising the use of natural resources, and should be fully integrated within the national strategy of the country in which they take place. Unless the context requires otherwise, projects should take into account the following:

- gender: projects will seek to reduce the vulnerabilities of women through empowering and strengthening their skills and abilities, and will promote the involvement of women at all stages of implementation;
- governance: through training, education and competence-building, projects will seek to promote human rights and encourage stakeholders to assume responsibility for themselves as individuals, including the poor and vulnerable, community and economic organisations, and those in positions of power;
- impact of climate change: projects should address, in both the design and execution, climatic disturbances and the expected effects thereof.

Participatory and partnership programmes are supported. The priority countries for 2012 are Benin, Mozambique, Cambodia, Laos, Ecuador and Peru. Applicants must request a minimum of €50,000 per year over at least two years. The foundation will provide up to 50 per cent of the total project cost, up to a maximum of €250,000.

ESSAY TOPIC PROPOSAL GRANTS

African Institute for Mathematical Sciences

Description:

The African Institute for Mathematical Sciences invites applications for its essay topic proposal grants. These support lecturers and industry researchers wishing to propose a topic and supervise the writing of an essay at AIMS. The essay should be on a topic in the mathematical sciences and contain at least some parts that are formulated in terms of mathematics. Supervisors should be well versed in the proposed project field and should be prepared to guide students and clarify difficult concepts. The resulting essay should be of a publishable or master's thesis standard. Each applicant will be responsible for a maximum of three students. Those whose proposals are chosen by a student, and who subsequently become supervisors at AIMS, will receive an honorarium for the seven-week essay period.

JACOBS RESEARCH FUND GRANTS

Jacobs Research Funds

Description:

The Jacobs Research Fund invites applications for its grants. The program funds projects involving fieldwork with living peoples that result in publication or other dissemination of information about the fieldwork. Priority is given to research on endangered cultures and languages, and to research on the Pacific Northwest. Grants are given for work on problems in language, social organization, political organization, religion, mythology, music, other arts, psychology and folk science. The grants categories are:

- individual grants that are worth up to $3,000 and support research projects administered by a single investigator on a focused problem;
- group grants that are worth up to $6,000 and support work by two or more researchers who will be cooperating on the same or similar projects;
- Kinkade grants that are worth up to $9,000 and support projects requiring an intense period of fieldwork, such as research leading to a major work such as a dictionary or collection of texts. They are appropriate for experienced researchers, such as PhD students working on dissertations, faculty members with sabbatical or other periods of course release and emeritus professors seeking to complete major research.

DUPRÉ GRANTS Multiple Sclerosis International Federation

Description:

The Multiple Sclerosis International Federation invites nominations for the Du Pré grants. These enable young researchers from emerging countries to undertake short visits to other MS research centres either to learn more from each other or to carry out parts of joint research projects. The aim is to encourage cross-fertilisation of skills through collaborative research projects.

University departments must nominate a candidate. Individuals, preferably young researchers from emerging countries, who are directly involved in a special MS research project are eligible for nomination.

The duration of visits is generally between two and six months. Grants usually range from £1,000 to £4,000. The maximum sum available is £5,000. Funds are intended to contribute towards travel and living costs or to top-up an existing grant in order to extend a visit.

ICTP-IAEA SANDWICH TRAINING EDUCATIONAL PROGRAMME

Abdus Salam International Centre for Theoretical Physics

Description:

The Abdus Salam International Centre for Theoretical Physics, in partnership with the International Atomic Energy Agency, invites applications for its sandwich training educational programme. This programme offers fellowship opportunities to PhD students from developing countries in the fields of physics and mathematics. The programme supports research in the following fields:

- atomic and nuclear physics;
- nuclear, isotope and laser techniques applied to human health, agriculture, biotechnology and biophotonics, and water resources and environmental studies;
- synchrotron radiation and applications;
- medical radiation physics;
- condensed matter and statistical physics;
- high energy physics;
- mathematics;
- earth system physics;
- applied physics, including micro- and nanoelectronics, fluid dynamics and dense plasma source physics.

Training and research will take place in an institution located in the Trieste area or at the IAEA laboratories of Seibersdorf, Vienna and the marine laboratory in Monaco.

Students from developing countries who are enrolled in a PhD programme at their home university may apply. Women scientists are particularly encouraged to apply. Fellows will spend at least three months at the host institute during the first year. Fellowships are renewable for up to two additional successive years. Fellowships include a monthly stipend of €1,400 during each stay at the host institute, as well as travel expenses and medical insurance.

C CLIMATE CHANGE AND AFRICAN POLITICAL STABILITY PRE-DOCTORAL FELLOWSHIPS University of Texas at Austin

Description:

The University of Texas at Austin invites applications for its pre-doctoral fellowships on climate change and African political stability. These aim to support the development of the next generation of researchers and thought leaders on the topic of climate change and political stability in Africa. Fellowships will support research in all disciplines, including the social and natural sciences, related to climate change, political stability and security in Africa. Registered PhD students from anywhere in the world are eligible to apply. These fellowships are designed for advanced PhD students, with preference given to those who have made substantial progress towards the completion of their dissertation. Ideally, fellows will complete their dissertation during the fellowship. Fellowships are tenable for one academic year, beginning in September 2013, and include round-trip air travel and a nine-month stipend of US$24,000.

JEAN MONNET MULTILATERAL RESEARCH GROUPS
Education, Audiovisual and Culture Executive Agency

Description:

The Education, Audiovisual and Culture Executive Agency has, under its lifelong learning programme, issued a call for proposals on Jean Monnet multilateral research groups.

These must involve a partnership between at least three Jean Monnet chairs from at least three different higher education institutions in three different countries. Partners may include associations of professors, teachers and researchers specialising in this field.

They must lead to an integrated academic network involving joint research and the organisation of joint seminars, debates and meetings. The activities of the multilateral research groups must lead to the production of a major academic publication by the end of the project.

Funding is worth a maximum of €80,000 over two years, and will cover up to 75 per cent of eligible costs. The total budget for the 2013 LLP call is approximately €1.28 million. EAC/S07/12. OJ 2012/C 232/04.

EARLY CAREER AWARDS

Thrasher Research Fund

Description:

The Thrasher Research Fund invites applications for its early career awards. These aim to help new researchers gain a foothold in the area of child health by encouraging them to develop medical research in the field. The programme is open to a variety of research topics important to children's health.

Applicants must show great potential to impact the field of children's health through medical research and may be either:

- physicians enrolled in a residency or a fellowship training programme, or who have completed that programme one year prior to applying for the award;
- postdoctoral researchers, who have completed a doctoral level degree no more than three years prior to applying for the award.

There are no restrictions with regard to citizenship and the fund is open to applications from institutions around the world.

Funding of up to US$25,000 is available for direct costs for a maximum duration of two years. The applicant may seek additional indirect cost funding of up to seven per cent. Applicants may budget up to US$12,500 for salary of the new researcher, and up to US$2,000 for travel associated with conference travel.

INTERNATIONAL PARTNERSHIPS FOR SUSTAINABLE SOCIETIES International Development Research Centre

Description:

The International Development Research Centre and the Social Sciences and Humanities Research Council of Canada invite letters of intent for their joint initiative on international partnerships for sustainable societies. This will support partnerships between researchers in Canada and low- and middle-income countries on the following topics:

- information and networks – research should address the relationships between digital networks and openness, rights and inclusion as they apply to entrepreneurship, governance, learning and science;

- inclusive growth – research should address either enhancing the framework for enterprise development, entrepreneurship and innovation, or facilitating growth with decent jobs;
- governance, security and justice – research should examine how states and societies interact to build secure, just and responsive societies and may focus on states that are weak or fragile, or on communities and marginalised groups that suffer from persistent insecurity, injustice and abuse of power at the local level in otherwise democratic states;
- green growth – research should assess existing initiatives and identify policies that could support the development of innovation and investment in a greener economy.

Proposals must be submitted by the Canadian project director on behalf of the Canadian and LMIC institutions. Applicant institutions from eligible LMICs may be academic or non-academic, including post-secondary institutions, government departments and not-for-profit organisations. Researchers and organisations from other countries may participate but may not receive funding through this call. Up to 10 grants worth a maximum of CA$30,000 will be awarded to prepare a formal application. Up to five full grants, typically worth between CA$500,000 and CA$2.5 million over four to seven years, may then be awarded.

ASSESSMENT OF PREVENTION, DIAGNOSIS AND TREATMENT OPTIONS

Patient-Centered Outcomes Research Institute

Description:

The Patient-centred Outcomes Research Institute invites applications for its assessment of prevention, diagnosis and treatment options call.

Funding is available for projects that address critical decisions that patients and their caregivers face every day without adequate information. These decisions must be consequential and must be occurring now without key evidence about the comparative effectiveness of possible options. The potential of the research to benefit patients and their caregivers must be clear and important. Proposals may concern the following broad topical areas:

- studies that compare the effectiveness of two or more strategies for prevention, treatment, screening, diagnosis or management that have not been adequately studies against alternative options;

- studies that compare the use of prognostication/risk-stratification tools with usual clinical approaches to treatment selection or administration;
- studies that investigate the key determinants of the outcomes patients experience following treatment decisions, with attention to various patient factors, including demographic, biological, clinical, social, economic and geographic factors that may influence the outcomes that follow a specific treatment.

Applications may be submitted by organisations based in any country, as long as there is a demonstrable benefit to the US healthcare system and US efforts in the area of patient-centred research can be clearly shown.

It is anticipated that approximately 54 contracts totalling up to US$48 million may be funded per cycle. Direct project costs are limited to a maximum of US$500,000 per year, for up to three years.

Closing date: 15 Feb 13

Deadline information: Letters of intent due by 5pm, 15 February, 15 June and 15 October 2013; full proposals due by 5pm, 15 April, 15 August, 17 December 2013. Deadlines on: 15 February 2013, 15 June 2013, 15 October 2013, and repeated annually.

MPROVING HEALTHCARE SYSTEMS

Patient-Centered Outcomes Research Institute

Description:

The Patient-centred Outcomes Research Institutes invites applications for its improving healthcare systems call.

Proposals must concern comparative outcomes studies of strategies employed by healthcare systems to improve the quality of care, the outcomes of care, or the efficiency of care for the patients they serve.

Healthcare systems include: health plans; physician groups; hospitals; academic medical centres; integrated delivery systems; community-based and safety net clinics; federal, state, and municipal providers and payers; and other entities organised to deliver, arrange, or coordinate healthcare services. PCORI seeks studies that will provide information of value to patients, their caregivers and clinicians, as well as to healthcare leaders and decision makers on which types of systems and which system strategies lead to better patient outcomes. More recent and less-studied system strategies are of particular interest.

Applications may be submitted by organisations based in any country, as long as there is a demonstrable benefit to the US healthcare system and US efforts in the area of patient-centred research can be clearly shown.

It is anticipated that approximately 27 contracts totalling up to US$24 million may be funded per cycle. Direct project costs are limited to a maximum of US$500,000 per year, for up to three years.

Closing date: 15 Feb 13

Deadline information: Letters of intent due by 5pm, 15 February, 15 June and 15 October 2013; full proposals due by 5pm, 15 April, 15 August, 17 December 2013. Deadlines on: 15 February 2013, 15 June 2013, 15 October 2013, and repeated annually.

COMMUNICATION AND DISSEMINATION Patient-Centered Outcomes Research Institute

Description:

The Patient-centred Outcomes Research Institutes invites applications for its communication and dissemination call.

Proposals must concern studies that evaluate and compare new and alternative approaches to the communication, dissemination and uptake of patient-centred research to patients, their caregivers and clinicians. Studies must address a critical gap in knowledge, and the benefit to patients and caregivers must be clear.

Applications must fall in one of the following broad topic areas:

- research that compares alternative communication, dissemination, health literacy or implementation strategies that aim to improve patients' health outcomes;

- research that compares the effectiveness of alternative approaches across a range of patient-centred outcomes;
- studies to develop and compare alternative methods and tools to elicit and include patient-desired outcomes in healthcare;
- research that compares innovative approaches in the use of existing electronic clinical data and other electronic modalities.

Applications may be submitted by all organisations based in any country, as long as there is a demonstrable benefit to the US healthcare system and US efforts in the area of patient-centred research.

It is anticipated that approximately 14 contracts totalling up to US$12 million may be funded in this cycle. Direct project costs are limited to a maximum of US$500,000 per year, for up to three years.

Closing date: 15 Feb 13

Deadline information: Letters of intent due by 5pm, 15 February, 15 June and 15 October; full proposals due by 5pm, 15 April, 15 August, 17 December 2013. Deadlines on: 15 February 2013, 15 June 2013, 15 October 2013, and repeated annually.

ADDRESSING DISPARITIES

Patient-Centered Outcomes Research Institute

Description:

The Patient-centred Outcomes Research Institutes invites applications for its addressing disparities call.

Proposals must concern comparative outcome studies that evaluate new and alternative interventions to reduce or eliminate disparities in health and healthcare outcomes, to overcome barriers that may disproportionately affect the outcomes of specific groups of patients, or to identify best practices for sharing results and information about patient-centred research across patient groups.

Applications must fall in one of the following topic areas:

- research that compares interventions to reduce or eliminate disparities in patient-centred outcomes, including health, healthcare and patient-reported outcomes;
- research that identifies and compares promising practices that address contextual factors and their impact on patient-centred health outcomes;
- research that compares benefits and risks of treatment, diagnostic, prevention or service options;
- research that compares strategies to overcome patient, provider or system-level barriers that may adversely affect patients;
- research that compares and identifies best practices within various patient populations for information sharing.

Applications may be submitted by all organisations based in any country, as long as there is a demonstrable benefit to the US healthcare system and US efforts in the area of patient-centred research.

It is anticipated that approximately 14 contracts totalling up to US$12 million may be funded in this cycle. Direct project costs are limited to a maximum of US$500,000 per year, for up to three years.

R RESEARCH GRANTS World Anti-Doping Agency

Description:

The World Anti-Doping Agency invites applications for its research grants. WADA promotes and funds, on a yearly basis, scientific projects in the anti-doping field covering the development or optimization of analytical tools for the detection and/or quantification of doping substances or methods as well as the pharmacology of such substances and the ergogenic effects of specific substances/methods or group of substances on athletic performance. In this context, WADA gives priority to projects with direct and imminent applicability in the fight against doping in sport over basic research projects. The review process includes the project evaluation by a panel of external independent reviewers as well as the review and selection by WADA's health, medical and research committee.

For 2012, submission of research projects covering the following topics is encouraged:

- detection of prohibited substances/methods: methodologies in analytical chemistry;
- detection of prohibited substances/methods: affinity-binding and biochemical methodologies;
- detection/identification of novel doping trends;
- pharmacological studies on doping substances/methods.

JAY JORDAN IFLA/OCLC EARLY CAREER DEVELOPMENT FELLOWSHIP PROGRAMME

International Federation of Library Associations and Institutions

Description:

The International Federation of Library Associations and Institutions invites applications for the Jay Jordan IFLA/OCLC early career development fellowship programme. The programme provides early career development and continuing education for library and information science professionals from countries with developing economies. This programme enables up to five individuals to spend four weeks at OCLC's headquarters in Ohio, USA. The programme gives fellows opportunities to meet with leading information practitioners, visit libraries, and explore topics including information technologies, library operations and management, and global cooperative librarianship. Library and information science professionals who are in the early stages of their career, and from countries with developing economies, are invited to submit applications. They must have obtained their degree within the last five years and must have at least three, but no more than eight, years of library or information science experience.

Description:

The Geologists' Association invites applications for the Curry fund. The aim of the fund is to encourage initiatives within geology which might otherwise not be possible, to encourage innovation, and to help a wider public to understand and enjoy geology. The fund will consider projects in the following categories:

- geological publication;
- geological conservation;
- other initiatives;
- research grants.

Applications from overseas visitors will be considered when supported by a UK sponsor. Priority will be given to poorly funded research environments. Grants are normally made for sums between £100 and £3,000.

Closing date: 20 Feb 13

AUSTRALIAN MARINE MAMMAL CENTRE GRANTS

Australian Department of Sustainability, Environment, Water, Population and Communities

Description:

The Australian Antarctic Division invites applications for its Australian marine mammal centre grants. These support staff, equipment, consumables and travel costs for projects which focus on the whales, dolphins, seals, sea lions and dugongs of the Australasian region, including the waters of the Indian, Southern and South Pacific Oceans. Research priorities are:

- quantifying population status, structure, distribution, habitat use and ecological influences for marine mammal populations for which such data can demonstrably inform and improve conservation management;
- characterise and quantify threats to marine mammal populations, with a focus on understanding the nature and extent of interactions with humans;
- develop risk management and mitigation tools or strategies for marine mammal and human interactions and test their efficacy;
- develop powerful, new, non-lethal, minimally invasive, technologies and methodologies that best address the above objectives;
- scientific research which supports the development, review and implementation of Recovery or Threat Abatement Plans prepared under the EPBC Act or which supports other agreed recovery actions, for listed Australian marine mammal species.

Preference will be given to projects which demonstrate co-investment opportunities. The budget for this call is $1.07 million and awards are given for between one and two years. Grants are open to both public and private bodies and individuals, as well as to state government departments and Commonwealth bodies. Overseas research organisations are eligible if their project is directly related to the science and conservation of Australian marine mammals. This award is listed in the Australian Competitive Grants Register (ACGR) - research income Category 1.

FLAGSHIP CLUSTERS

Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organisation

Description:

The Commonwealth Scientific and Industrial Research Organisation invites applications to form flagship clusters under its national research flagships programme. Flagship clusters fund large-scale research programmes with an emphasis on people and partnerships working on a collection of projects relevant to a flagship programme's goals. Applications for clusters are invited in the following areas:

- superannuation, under the digital productivity and services flagship;
- weath from waste, under the minerals down under flagship;
- urban water, under the water for a healthy country flagship;
- innovation by design, under the future manufacturing flagship.

Flagship clusters will be funded for up to three years at AU$1 million per year with matching co-investment from partner organisations. Applications will be accepted from Australian universities and higher education institutions, cooperative research centres, and other Australian or overseas publicly funded research agencies. Each cluster must include at least one Australian university. This award is listed in the Australian Competitive Grants Register (ACGR) - research income Category 1.

United Nations University Institute of Advanced Studies

Description:

The Institute of Advanced Studies at the United Nations University, in collaboration with the Japan Society for Promotion of Science, invites applications for the JSPS-UNU fellowship. The aim of the fellowship is to provide opportunities for promising young researchers to conduct co-operative research under the leadership of their host researchers of Japanese universities and research institutions. Proposals for research at UNU-IAS in Yokohama should relate to one of the following areas:

- science and technology for sustainable societies;
- sustainable urban futures;
- biodiplomacy Initiative
- sustainable development governance
- traditional knowledge initiative.

Proposals for research at UNU-ISP in Tokyo should relate to one of the following areas:

- international co-operation and development;
- global change and sustainability;
- peace and security.

Applications are welcomed from citizens of countries that have diplomatic relations with Japan. Fellowships are awarded for a period of 24 months. Fellows will receive a return trip air fare, a monthly maintenance allowance of JPY362,000, a settling-in allowance of JPY200,000 and overseas travel accident and sickness insurance. A research grant of up to JPY1,500,000 per annum is also available. Applications for these grants is

MRC/DFID AFRICAN RESEARCH LEADER SCHEME

Medical Research Council

Description:

The Medical Research Council and the Department for International Development invite applications for their African research leader scheme. The scheme aims to strengthen research leadership and capacity across sub-Saharan Africa by attracting and retaining researchers of high ability and build on existing strong research partnerships between African and UK research organisations.

The scheme is offered to candidates employed by African government institutions and well-established non-profit institutions in sub-Saharan Africa, such as universities, medical or dental schools, and academic institutes. South African institutions are excluded from this call. The MRC units in the Gambia and Uganda are eligible to apply. Awards are only available to African-UK institutional partnerships, and the application should be submitted by the UK institution. The UK partner institution may be any UK institution eligible for MRC funding.

Researchers from sub-Saharan African countries, as well as African researchers working overseas who wish to return to the region, are eligible under this scheme. The candidate should hold an academic position in an African research institution, or make arrangements to obtain a tenured academic position in such an institution. They are expected to hold a PhD and have between one and five years' relevant postdoctoral research experience. The scheme is open to applicants working in all biomedical and health research areas, and priority will be given to applications that address key health problems relevant to the region. Applications from women are especially encouraged.

Awards are worth up to £750,000 for a period of up to five years. The majority of funding will go to the African institution, which will receive funding at 100 per cent of full economic costing. Any costs specifically for the UK institution will be provided on the basis of 80 per cent FEC. Awards provide salary for the candidate and eligible research costs. The scheme offers the African research leader an opportunity to spend three months in a UK institution for further development and training.

CHILD DEVELOPMENT - RESEARCH INTO AUTISM

Waterloo Foundation

Description:

The Waterloo Foundation invites applications for its child development grants for research related to autism. These support research into the psychological and behavioural development of children, and into certain neuro-developmental conditions and the factors that influence them. The foundation is particularly interested in autistic spectrum disorders, as well as other conditions that often occur together, including ADHD, dyslexia, rolandic epilepsy, development coordination disorder and trauma. The focus is on factors which may alleviate these conditions, and particularly those which are under the families' control, such as diet and sleep. The foundations funds both pure and applied research topics, prioritising those benefiting patients directly.

Applications are welcome from registered charities and organisations with projects that have a recognisable charitable purpose. Organisations based outside the UK will need to provide a reference, preferably from a UK-registered entity. Grants are unlikely to exceed £100,000 each per year.

QUALITY OF LIFE GRANTS PROGRAM

Christopher and Dana Reeve Paralysis Foundation

Description:

The Christopher and Dana Reeve Paralysis Foundation is expected to offer quality of life grants for research that develops treatments and cures for paralysis caused by spinal cord injury and other central nervous system disorders. Quality of life grants offer support to non-profit organizations that address the needs of persons living with paralysis (particularly spinal cord injury), their families and caregivers. Funding is awarded in 13 categories, including: accessibility, advocacy, arts, assistive technology, children, counseling, education, employment, health promotion, independent living, practical service, sports and recreation, and therapeutic riding. Except for the health promotion category, the primary focus of the grants is paralysis caused by spinal cord injury. Funding is awarded for up to $25,000 for each grant. Grants will only be awarded to non-profit organizations. Applications are accepted from organizations based outside of the US, although priority is given to those with an international scope.

F P7-ICT-2011-C FET OPEN

European Commission Framework Programme 7: Cooperation

Description:

The European Commission Framework Programme 7: Cooperation invites applications for its FP7-ICT-2011-C FET open call. This call funds projects in future and emerging technologies, including the following topics:

- ICT-2011.9.1 FET-Open challenging current thinking;
- ICT-2011.9.2 high_tech research intensive SMEs in FET research;
- ICT-2011.9.3 FET young explorers;
- ICT-2011.9.4 international cooperation in FET research.

Applicants for topic ICT-2011.9.2 must be consortia containing at least one small or medium sized enterprise. Projects under the ICT-2011.9.3 topic must be led by a young researcher, and the leadership by young researchers of all work packages is also required. No more than six years should have elapsed between the award of a PhD (or equivalent) for each such young researcher and the date of submission of the short proposal. This work programme provides opportunities to extend ongoing FET projects through new collaboration components involving the best researchers worldwide, so as to create global interest and raise the level of ambition around research avenues incepted within FET. Proposals submitted under the ICT-2011.9.4 topic must be presented by the coordinator of an on-going FET IP or STREP project ending at least 18 months after the submission date of the proposal. The indicative budget for this call is €93 million. A minimum of €10m and a maximum of €25m will be allocated per batch. FP7-ICT-2011-C. OJ 2010/C 196/06.

Closing date: 12 Mar 13

Deadline information: Deadlines: proposals reviewed after 7 December 2010 for batch 10, 17 May 2011 for batch 11, 25 October 2011 for batch 12, 10 April 2012 for batch 13, 25 September for batch 14 and 12 March 2013 for batch 15. ## EPIDERMOLYSIS BULLOSA RESEARCH GRANTS

DEBRA International

Description:

The Dystrophic Epidermolysis Bullosa Research Association invites applications for its research grants. DEBRA's current research priorities are:

- biology and genetics of all forms of EB, as better understanding can lead to new approaches to treat EB;
- development of therapies, including possible gene, cell, drug or protein therapies;
- wound healing and skin cancer in EB;

- clinical research to improve management of EB through symptom relief.

DEBRA welcomes proposals for co-funding with other organisations, including government, academia, industry or other charities. The association will not fund generic technology development not closely related to a specific therapeutic approach for EB. Projects of two or three years' duration will be considered. Funding applications should not request more than €160,000 for a two-year grant or €240,000 for a three-year grant.

MOREMI LEADERSHIP EMPOWERMENT AND DEVELOPMENT FELLOWS PROGRAMME Moremi Initiative

Description:

The Moremi Initiative invites applications for the Moremi leadership empowerment and development fellows programme. The MILEAD fellowship is a one-year leadership development programme that develops young women's transformational leadership skills to help them tackle issues affecting women in their communities and in Africa as a whole. The programme includes a three-week summer institute, quarterly online seminars, informal networking, mentoring, community leadership projects and exchange programmes with other professionals. Fellowships will be awarded to 25 young women with exceptional qualities who have exhibited leadership potential in their community, organisation or profession. Applications are welcome from African women between 19 and 25 years of age, living in any part of Africa and the Diaspora with a commitment to fostering the growth and development of other young women. Applicants must demonstrate high academic potential and be able to communicate in English. Selected candidates may remain full-time students or work full-time for the programme duration, except during a full-time three-week residential summer institute. The curriculum also involves approximately 35 days of face-to-face and online training, plus time allocated to mentoring and community service projects in the applicant's home country or country of residence. A limited number of scholarships are available to cover meals, travel and accommodation costs for the duration of the summer institute.

SOUTH-SOUTH SUMMER INSTITUTE Council for the Development of Social Science Research (CODESRIA)

Description:

The Council for the Development of Social Science Research, in partnership with the Asian Political and International Studies Association and the Latin American Council of Social Sciences, invites applications to attend the fifth South-South summer institute. The institute serves as a unique forum for enhancing a deeper understanding among a younger generation of southern scholars of the history, politics, economy and culture of Africa, Asia and Latin America and enables participants to develop long-lasting collaborative relationships with their counterparts from other southern countries. The theme for this year's institute, to be held in Recife, Brazil from 21 May to 1 June 2012, is rethinking development: global and regional alternatives for development in the south. Participants will receive advanced research training on various key issues relevant to the south and the theoretical and methodological perspectives that might be appropriate for gaining a full understanding of the specific situation of the countries and peoples located outside the core of the international system. It is also expected that participants will become acquainted with the local intellectual environment in the regions where different sessions of the institute are hosted and strengthen their comparative research capacities. Younger scholars resident in countries of the south and who are pursuing active academic careers are eligible to apply. Applicants should be university-educated, preferably with a minimum of a master's degree in any of the social sciences and humanities. Applicants should have a demonstrable working knowledge of English. 30 applicants will be selected for participation, 10 each from Africa, Asia and Latin America. Full participation costs will be covered, including economy return air travel, accommodation and subsistence.

Description:

The Morris Animal Foundation, the American Association of Feline Practitioners,

the American Veterinary Medical Foundation and the Winn Feline Foundation invite application for their cat health network grants. The goal of the network is to improve feline health and welfare by funding focused feline health studies. Eligible proposals require utilization of feline SNP chip arrays with a particular interest in projects addressing feline cancer, chronic renal disease, diabetes mellitus, feline lower urinary tract disease and pain management. Projects related to nondomestic felids are acceptable if they also address issues of high significance to domestic cats. Biomedical investigators whose proposals relate to genome-wide association studies targeting monogenic and complex genetic feline hereditary diseases and genetic risk factors are encouraged to apply. Proposals from institutions offering matching grants will be given higher priority. Consortium and collaboration amongst research institutions and investigators is encouraged. The total budget is worth approximately US$100,000.

FUND FOR GENDER EQUALITY

United Nations Entity for Gender Equality and the Empowerment of Women

Description:

The United Nations Entity for Gender Equality and the Empowerment of Women invites proposals through the second call of its fund for gender equality. Funding is available for innovative and impact-oriented proposals that will help women to achieve political and economic empowerment. Proposals must articulate how they will achieve tangible results in the lives of specific groups of women and girls in situations of marginalisation:

- women's political empowerment - projects must aim to increase women's political participation, leadership and influence in the decisions that affect their lives, including through leadership training and education and with a focus on youth;

- women's economic empowerment - projects must aim to increase women's access to and control over resources and assets, including land, water, technology and viable employment, while also addressing the disproportionate burden of unpaid care work on women and girls, with particular emphasis on holistic and environmentally sustainable development approaches.

The fund is particularly interested in the innovative use of technology to meet these objectives. Lead applicants must be a women's non-governmental organisation, where women comprise at least 50 per cent of leadership positions, or a local or national governmental agency based in an eligible country in Africa, Asia and the Pacific, Europe and central Asia, Latin America or the Caribbean. Private sector entities and academic and research institutions may not apply. Applicants must have a track record of managing incomes commensurate with the grant request. Grants are worth between US$200,000 and US$1million over one to three years.

I NOVATION RESEARCH INCENTIVES SCHEME VICI AWARDS Netherlands Organisation for Scientific Research - NWO

Description:

The Netherlands Organisation for Scientific Research (NWO) invites applications for its innovation research incentives scheme vici awards. These grants are for excellent senior researchers who have shown that they have the ability to successfully develop their own innovative lines of research and to act as coaches for young researchers.

Vici candidates can submit proposals in the period beginning eight years and ending 15 years after they received their doctorates, calculated from the date on which the doctorate was formally awarded to the deadline for the submission of pre-proposals in the relevant round.

Applications may be submitted by candidates with or without a permanent contract of employment, irrespective of geographical origin. Appointments must be realised at one of the prospective host research institutions based in the Netherlands.

The annual budget for veni, vidi and vici awards is €150 million. An applicant for a vici grant may be funded with up to €1.5m over a period of five years. All applications must be submitted in English.

F*P7-AAT-2013-RTD-HIGH-SPEED

European Commission Framework Programme 7: Cooperation

Description:

The European Commission Framework Programme 7: Cooperation invites proposals under its FP7-AAT-2013-RTD-HIGH-SPEED call. This is a coordinated call with Australia, Japan and the Russian Federation, and possibly other third countries, on civil high-speed air transport research. The call foresees to lead to the funding of a coherent research programme on civil high-speed aircraft, consisting of one project financed by the EU and at least two complementary projects funded either by the Australian, Japanese or Russian Federation authorities or funding organisations.

Proposals may address activity 7.1.6 pioneering the air transport of the future, including AAT.2013.8-2 international cooperation on civil high-speed air transport research. Consortia must include at least three independent legal entities, each established in an EU member or associated state, but no two of which established in the same MS or AC. The proposals must be submitted in parallel or before at least two complementary proposals from the named countries or other third countries.

The budget for this call is €5 million. OJ 2012/C 202/6.

AFRICA WORKSHOP

American Political Science Association

Description:

The American Political Science Association, in partnership with the University of Botswana, invites applications for participation in its Africa workshop. This workshop on local communities and the state in Africa, with a focus on field research methods, will be held from 15 to 27 July 2012 at the University of Botswana in Gaborone. The workshop will conceptualise and study:

- interactions between local communities and the state that go beyond a narrow geographical concentration on a particular community;
- linkages that connect local, national and transnational actors.

University and college faculty in the social sciences residing in Africa, who have completed their PhD and are in the early stages of their academic career may apply. A limited number of places are also available for advanced US PhD students. Applicants must be actively engaged in an empirical research project in political science or an area of inquiry related to politics. Applicants must be working on a manuscript, paper, book chapter or article for publication. Applicants must be professionally fluent in English. The organisers will cover the costs of participation, including travel, lodging, meals and workshop materials, for up to 26 applicants.
