NEESUR RAHMAN PRIZE FOR COMPUTATIONAL PHYSICSAmerican Physical SocietyDescription:

The American Physical Society invites nominations for the Aneesur Rahman prize for computational physics. The purpose of this award is to recognize and encourage outstanding achievement in computational physics research. Nominations are open to scientists of all nationalities regardless of the geographical site at which the work was done. The prize is ordinarily be awarded to one person, but a prize may be shared when all recipients have contributed to the same accomplishments. The prize consists of $5,000, a certificate and an allowance for travel to the APS meeting at which the award is bestowed.

ARTHUR L SCHAWLOW PRIZE IN LASER SCIENCEAmerican Physical SocietyDescription:

The American Physical Society invites nominations for the Arthur L Schawlow prize in laser science. The purpose of the award is to recognize outstanding contributions to basic research that uses lasers to advance knowledge of the fundamental physical properties of materials and their interaction with light. Some examples of relevant areas of research are: nonlinear optics; ultrafast phenomena; laser spectroscopy; squeezed states; quantum optics; multiphoton physics; laser cooling and trapping; physics of lasers; particle acceleration by lasers; and short wavelength lasers. The prize consists of $10,000 and a certificate, plus an allowance for travel to the APS meeting.

CONFERENCE GRANTS

Association for the Study of Animal Behaviour

Description:

The Association for the Study of Animal Behaviour invites applications for its conference grants. These enable postgraduate students and others to attend ASAB conferences. Applicants must be association members or have applied for membership. They must be registered for a higher degree, or be without access to other sources of funding. Priority may be given to first-time applicants and those working in the research area of the conference. Awards are for a maximum of £400 and will contribute towards the costs of travel, accommodation and meals.

Closing date: 01 Jul 12

Deadline information: Deadlines on: 1 July 2012, 1 November 2012, 1 March 2013, and repeated annually.

DAVID ROGERS RESEARCH FUND

Catholic Record Society

Description:

The Catholic Record Society invites applications for the David Rogers Research Fund awards. These encourage new writing on Reformation and post-Reformation British Catholic history by helping to defray the cost of necessary travel to libraries and archives in the UK or abroad and the extra subsistence costs involved. The principal condition for an award is that the research should lead to written publication in a reputable historical forum. There are no eligibility requirements on grounds of age, nationality, gender or religion, nor are applicants required to be members of the society.

F FRANCIS M PIPKIN AWARD American Physical Society

Description:

The American Physical Society invites nominations for the Francis M Pipkin award. The purpose of this award is to honor exceptional research accomplishments by a young scientist in the interdisciplinary area of precision measurement and fundamental constants and to encourage the wide dissemination of the results of that research. The award is given biennially every odd-number year and consists of $2,000 plus support of travel expenses to the APS meeting at which the award is conferred.

Scientists who have held the PhD degree for not more than 15 years prior to the nomination deadline are eligible for the award. The award recipient will be selected on the basis of outstanding work in the area of precision measurement and fundamental constants, as represented by his or her publications and three nominating letters. Any APS member, not a member of the award selection committee, may submit a nomination.

G GEORGE E DUVAL SHOCK COMPRESSION SCIENCE AWARD American Physical Society

Description:

The American Physical Society invites nominations for the George E Duvall shock compression science award. The purpose of this award is to recognize contributions to understanding condensed matter and non-linear physics through shock compression. This award is presented biennially in odd-numbered years and consists of a cash award of $5,000, a plaque citing the accomplishments of the recipient, and an allowance for travel to the meeting at which it is to be presented.

All members of the scientific community are eligible for nomination. A single award will normally be given to no more than one individual and will be presented at the biennial topical group conference.

JAMES C MCGRODDY PRIZE FOR NEW MATERIALS

American Physical Society

Description:

The American Physical Society invites nominations for the James C McGroddy prize for new materials. The purpose of the award is to recognize and encourage outstanding achievement in the science and application of new materials. This includes the discovery of new classes of materials, the observation of novel phenomena in known materials leading to both fundamentally new applications and scientific insights, and also includes theoretical and experimental work contributing significantly to the understanding of such phenomena.

The prize is open to scientists of all nationalities irrespective of where their work has been carried out.

MICHAEL WILLIAMS RESEARCH FUND

Catholic Record Society

Description:

The Catholic Record Society invites applications for the Michael Williams Research Fund awards. These encourage the study of the historical connections between Roman Catholicism in England and Wales with the situation in other countries in Europe in the post-Reformation era. The fund will help to defray the travel and basic subsistence costs of research on relevant material in English and European archives and libraries. The research should be intended to lead to publication as a book, a contribution to a book, an article in a learned journal, or as a full-length paper accepted for presentation at a national or international ecclesiastical history conference. The fund will also consider applications for subsidies towards such publication. There are no requirements of eligibility on grounds of age, nationality, gender or religion, nor are applicants required to be members of the society.

NICHOLSON MEDAL FOR HUMAN OUTREACH American Physical Society

Description:

The American Physical Society invites nominations for the Nicholson medal for human outreach. This medal recognizes the humanitarian aspect of physics and physicists, and shall be awarded to a physicist who through teaching, research, or science related activities:

- has demonstrated a particularly giving and caring relationship as a mentor to students or colleagues, or has succeeded in motivating interest in physics through inspiring educational works;
- has created special opportunities that inspire the scientific development of students or junior colleagues, or has developed programs for students at any level that facilitated positive career choices in physics;
- has successfully stimulated the interest and involvement of the general public on the progress in physics.

Recognition consists of the Nicholson medal and a certificate which includes the citation for which the recipient has been recognized. Up to $1,500 will be available for the recipient's travel expenses to the meeting at which the medal is presented.

S SIEMENS HEALTHCARE DIAGNOSTICS YOUNG INVESTIGATOR AWARD American Society for Microbiology

Description:

The American Society for Microbiology invites nominations for the Siemens healthcare diagnostics young investigator award. This award honors outstanding laboratory research in clinical microbiology or antimicrobial agents and is intended to further the career development of a young clinical scientist and promote awareness of clinical microbiology as a career.

Nominees who are conducting outstanding research in clinical microbiology, automation in clinical laboratories, development of novel antimicrobial agents, mechanisms of action of antimicrobial agents or mechanisms of resistance to antimicrobial agents are eligible. Nominees must be no more than five years beyond completion of postdoctoral research training in microbiology, infectious diseases or related disciplines at the time of the nomination deadline.

OTTO BAYER SCHOLARSHIPS

Description:

Bayer invites proposals for the Otto Bayer scholarships. These enable students in their advanced study period to conduct study projects and undertake internships, summer courses, preparatory and supplementary courses, theses and doctoral studies. Researchers from German-speaking countries may apply to study abroad, while international investigators may apply to study in Germany. Proposals may address biology, molecular biology, biochemistry, biotechnology, biological process engineering, bioinformatics, chemistry, chemical engineering, material sciences, environmental sciences, pharmaceuticals, drug discovery, physics and medical sciences.

SENIOR INVESTIGATOR AWARDS IN BIOMEDICAL SCIENCE

Wellcome Trust

Description:

The Wellcome Trust invites applications for its senior investigator awards in biomedical science. These will provide support that is flexible and at a level and length sufficient to enable exceptional researchers to address the most important questions about health and disease.

Awards will support exceptional, world-class researchers, who have a compelling long-term vision for their research. Researchers must have an international track-record of significant achievement, and have demonstrated the originality and impact of their research, and be leading their field. UK applicants must have an established academic post at an eligible higher education or research institution. Applicants based in low- or middle-income countries, except India, are also eligible to apply if they are carrying out research in the fields of public health and tropical medicine aimed at understanding and controlling human and animal diseases of local, national or global health importance.

Awards are worth between £100,000 and £425,000 per year for a period of up to seven years, and cover research expenses, overseas allowances, travel and subsistence.

TED FELLOWSHIPS

Technology, Entertainment, Design (TED)

Description:

Technology, Entertainment, Design invites applications for the TED fellowships. This programme is designed to bring together young innovators who have demonstrated remarkable accomplishment in the fields of technology, entertainment, design, science, engineering, humanities, the arts, economics, business, journalism, entrepreneurship and NGOs. Fellows will attend the TED conference in Long Beach, California and participate in specially designed pre-conference programmes, with training from global experts in spreading great ideas. Each year, 15 fellows will be selected from the previous year's successful applicants for the extended, two-year senior fellows programme. Although applications are open to anyone over the age of 18 from anywhere in the world, the programme is targeted at applicants aged between 21 and 40 from Africa, Asia/Pacific, the Caribbean, Latin America and the Middle East. Successful applicants will attend one conference with all expenses paid, participate in pre-conference activities, have the opportunity to speak on stage and for that talk to be posted on the TED website.

I NSSTITUTE FOR AFRICAN TRANSITIONAL JUSTICE Makerere University

Description:

Makerere University's refugee law project invites applications for scholarships to attend the 2nd Institute for African Transitional Justice. This is an annual week-long residential programme with a focus on transitional justice issues in the context of Africa. It will take place from 20-27 November 2011 in Kitgum, Northern Uganda. The theme will be: Whose Memories Count and at What Cost? The institute invites regional speakers and experts in the African transitional justice field to share their experiences and how they localise transitional justice policies and practices. The institute chooses speakers able to engage analytically and practically on issues that touch on the future and limits of transitional justice in post-conflict communities in Africa and beyond.

The institute welcomes applications from researchers, graduate students, policy-makers, practitioners, and humanitarian actors with an interest in the field of transitional justice, from research institutions, universities, civil society organisations, NGOs, regional organisations, foreign missions and United Nations' agencies, located in or with a particular focus on Africa. The institute will host a maximum of 40 participants. There are a limited number of partial and full scholarships, with preference being given to scholars and practitioners originating from AU-member states and Morocco who are actively engaged with African institutions and civil society organisations.

Council for the Development of Social Science Research (CODESRIA)

Description:

The Council for the Development of Social Science Research (CODESRIA), in collaboration with the South-South Exchange Programme for Research on the History of Development (Sephis) and the Institute of African Studies at Mohamed V University, invites applications to participate in the African-Arab Advanced

Institute inaugural session. The institute aims to extend and transform the frontiers of African and Arab Studies by simultaneously challenging and transcending the inherited boundaries set by the colonial encounter and Cold War-inspired area studies. The inaugural session will take place in Rabat, Morocco, from 19-30 September 2011. The theme will be: The Changing Political Economy of African-Arab Relations. The sub-themes are as follows: colonialism, post-colonial nationalisms, the spirit of non-alignment and Bandung, the political economy of the Nile, African and Arab states in the global oil politics, trade and investments, regionalisms, state and human security challenges in Africa and the Arab world, the structural transformation of the public sphere and the promise of democracy in Africa and the Arab world.

Up to 10 fellows from across Africa and the Arab world will be invited to participate.

TWAS-CSIR FELLOWSHIPS FOR POSTGRADUATE STUDIES IN INDIA

Academy of Sciences for the Developing World (formerly Third World Academy of Sciences)

Description:

The Academy of Sciences for the Developing World and the Council of Scientific and Industrial Research in India invite applications for their research fellowships for postgraduate studies in the natural sciences in India. Funding enables scholars from developing countries to pursue research leading towards a PhD in newly emerging areas in science and technology at laboratories or institutes of CSIR. There are two categories of fellowships:

- sandwich fellowships. Awards are for applicants who are registered for a PhD in their home country. Fellowships may be granted for between six months to four years;
- full-time fellowships. Awards are for applicants who are not registered for a PhD. Fellowships will be granted for an initial period of up to 12 months and may be extended for a further three years, subject to the student's performance and registration for a PhD at a university in India or their home country.

Applicants must: be 35 years of age or under on 31 December of the application year; be nationals of a developing country other than India; hold a master's degree in science and technology; be regularly employed in their home country and hold a research assignment there. VISITS AND EXCHANGES

International Centre of Excellence in Water Resources Management

Description:

The International Centre of Excellence in Water Resources Management invites applications for its visits and exchanges grants. Funding provides an opportunity for people from industry, education, training and research sectors to increase engagement at an international level in the area of water resources management. The programme aims to:

- promote ICE WaRM and establish and strengthen relationships between ICE WaRM and organisations involved in water resources management throughout the world;
- enhance the professional development, technical skills and expertise of participants through a variety of learning and skills development opportunities;
- enable the exchange of scientific information and work on research projects in fields of mutual interest;
- encourage the exchange of ideas on best practice within water-related fields;
- engage participants in lectures, seminars, conferences, colloquia and symposia;

- showcase new initiatives in water-related fields.

The programme is available for inbound (to Australia) and outbound (from Australia) international visits by individuals and exchanges between two candidates. People from academia and industry within the field of water resources management are eligible to apply. This award is in Australian research income Category 2.

IDRC INTERNSHIP AWARDS

International Development Research Centre

Description:

The International Development Research Centre invites applications for its internship awards. These aim to provide exposure to research for international development through a programme of training in research management and grant administration under the guidance of IDRC programme staff. They are designed to provide hands-on learning experiences in research programme management, and in the creation, dissemination, and use of knowledge from an international perspective. Research divisions include:

- agriculture and food security;
- climate change and water;
- ecosystems and human health;
- donor partnership division;
- innovation, technology and society;
- information networks and inclusion;
- supporting inclusive growth;
- governance, security and justice;
- think tank initiative;
- governance, equity, and health;
- research for international tobacco control;
- special initiatives division;
- policy and planning group;
- evaluation unit;
- president's office;
- communications division.

The award will be offered annually to Canadians, permanent residents of Canada, and citizens of developing countries pursuing master's or doctoral studies at a recognised university or having completed a master's or doctoral programme at a recognised university.

Recipients in Canada will receive a salary ranging from CAD$37,035 to CAD$42,873 per year.

FELLOWSHIPS FOR RESEARCH AND ADVANCED TRAINING

Academy of Sciences for the Developing World (formerly Third World Academy of Sciences)

Description:

The Academy of Sciences for the Developing World invites applications for its fellowships for young scientists in developing countries. These enable them to spend between three and 12 months at a research institution in a developing country other than their own. Fellowships enhance the research capacity of promising scientists, especially those at the beginning of their research career, helping them to foster linkages for further collaboration. Fellowships are offered for a minimum period of three months and a maximum of 12 months. They cover international low-cost airfare, plus a contribution towards subsistence amounting to a maximum of $300 per month. Eligible applicants are young scientists holding a MSc or equivalent degree who work in any area of natural sciences. Applicants need to be citizens of a developing country and be employed by a research institution in a developing country.

POLICY-ORIENTED RESEARCH ON KOREA

Korea Foundation

Description:

The Korea Foundation invites applications under its policy-oriented research on Korea programme. The programme provides grant support for the research and dissemination of relevant information on major Korea-related issues. The programme seeks to encourage research projects that provide in-depth analyses and recommend policy alternatives for key issues related to Korea, in the areas of international relations, security, and unification, contemporary political, social, and economical issues. Project proposals under this program are required to hold at least one related event, such as a workshop, conference, or symposium for publicity and dissemination of the research results. Public policy-oriented research institutes are eligible to apply for programme assistance. Priority is given to proposals with Korea-based collaborative partners. Personnel expenses and other costs directly related to the research activities are subsidised. The foundation will support indirect costs amounting to 10 per cent or less of the total grant amount, and the foundation normally considers projects with grant period of one year.

Closing date: 30 Sep 12 (Forecast)

RETREATS AT THE BERGMAN ESTATE ON FÅRÖ

Stiftelsen Bergmangårdarna på Fårö - The Bergman Estate on Fårö

Description:

The Bergman Estate on Fårö invites applications for retreats. The estate is open to artists, scholars and journalists from around the world, as well as people dedicated to democracy and freedom of speech issues. Free accommodation for a work period of no less than three weeks and at the most three months is offered. Applicants with special needs can apply for travel grants. Group applicants are advised to focus on the beginning and end of the season, i.e. November and March. The Bergman Estate is closed December through March.

Applicants must be able to document professional accomplishments and output, provide a description of the project they intend to work with on Fårö, the size of their party (spouse, children, and so on), and the intended length of their stay. Additionally, applicants must specify how they intend to reimburse the community in the form of a cultural event. This event may also be outlined in consultation with the Artistic Director. Day care can be provided to parents of small children.
